

Sprint 1 Report

Product Name: WaveStyled

Team Name:

5/19/2022

Actions to Stop Doing

- The team has to stop spontaneously setting meeting times for our work/SCRUM meetings.
- We have to stop keeping communication between frontend and backend development within each sub-team because it is important for group members to understand what progress is being made in between sprints

Actions to Start Doing

- The SCRUM board is one aspect of the project management component of the product that has been under-utilized, so we want to start using those resources to effectively visualize task completion and pending tasks during the next sprints
- We need to ensure that all code is properly documented to ensure that other team members from different parts of the project can see another team member's code and know what it does. We documented code to some extent, but it needs to be done as the team member codes their functions
- We also need to collect more testing data, whether that be more outfit/clothing data or UI simulat
- We need to communicate each other schedules in order ttors, so that we can properly ensure our code works and flesh out any bugs before advancing forward in the projeco set a rigid time and place to do our work to ensure that everyone can make it to the meetings on time

Actions to Keep Doing

- The team should maintain the 3x weekly in-person meetings, as we are able to accomplish significant progress in the coding and management fronts when we are around each other
- We should also maintain the frontend/backend sub-teams because focusing one part of the team on the frontend and another on the backend allows each team member to have a closely-knit group of people that are working on the same part of the product
- We should continue our communication and updates through Discord because it has proved to be an effective way of organizing discourse on all aspects of the project and serves as a way of remotely conducting meetings if someone can't make it
